

English terminology for the first workshop.

Hello everyone!

In my experience, seminars can be challenging for participants when I am using English terminology that is unfamiliar, especially when the terms are not transparent. I have therefore helped you out by making a list of central terms (some of which are transparent) that we will be using at the first seminar, so that your brains do not have to keep translating simultaneously as they are processing new ideas and material. I hope you will find this list useful.

See you soon!
Best wishes, Angela
